Corporate Education

“It’s not just what you know,
but who you know.”

In today’s society, the biggest mistake you can make is to believe that you can get ahead in business or personally based on what you know alone. Although education is a must, relationships can play a key role in getting a job, promotion, Troy E. Wright growing your business and/or expanding your opportunities. Sites like Miami Entertainment Network. Com or Chamber events are great to attend, but if you just attend, sit on your hands, do not sell yourself nor have a goal in mind of what you want to achieve, you are wasting your time. Meeting people is not just about getting to know people today, but it is also about helping your business grow in the future. Have you ever heard the saying, “The squeaky wheel gets the grease”? Well, the squeaky wheel gets the grease because it lets you know that it needs help (relationships) and is still rolling along. So, is your wheel squeaking? Are you still rolling along? More importantly, do you know where the oil can is? I encourage you to give 100% to whatever you are doing to give your business the best opportunity to grow. Educate your mind, be active, get out in the business community and surround yourself with positive people who are changing the world through actions and not just words. After you have equipped yourself through education, the next step is to use your wonderful personality and establish relationships. Smiling and saying hello can take you a long way.

SPOTLIGHT – GRAD!

Sailor Earns His Degree While Serving His Country

I’ve been in the U.S. Navy for 14 years stationed in San Diego, and I am a distance learning student with Florida National University (FNU). I have been taking courses online since early 2011, and I recently earned an Associates of Art degree in Criminal Justice (CJ). Currently, I’m working on my Bachelor of Science in CJ. I’d like to express what a positive and beneficial pleasure it’s been to know that Professor Liz Barcena and FNU’s Military Liaison Vilma Rosario (a fellow Navy Chief) are at FNU. They’ve been nothing short of phenomenal when it has come to helping me reach my educational goals.

FNU Corporate Partner

Maria Iglesias (Nurse Home Administrator) is a dedicated leader who devotes her efforts and heart to helping the community. Palmetto Rehabilitation Health and Center (PRHC) offers a fresh approach to rehabilitation and long term care. From the very first day, PRHC makes residents and family feel comfortable and secure. PRHC is dedicated to providing patients with more than expert medical care. In addition to providing quality health and nursing care, they provide vision, dental, audiology, podiatry and dermatology services. They also provide a beauty salon, barber shop, shuffle board courts, a library, transportation for doctor’s appointments, live entertainment, movies, as well as field trips and religious services held on the premises, and shopping. ATHLETIC DEPT.

Good news continues to pour out of Florida National University (FNU) with the recent announcement of starting an Athletic Department. This addition will further expand our opportunities and create a healthy environment for our students. The program will be the first of its kind at the University and will initiate a Men’s Basketball program with an inaugural season scheduled to start in the fall of 2013. Director Scott Schmidt achieved his Masters in Sports and Leisure Commerce from the University of Memphis while being a part of the Mike Miller (Miami Heat) Foundation. “My desire is to make a positive change in people’s lives and establish a top notch program at the University.” First auditions will be held 1:00 p.m.- 4:00 p.m., June 29, at Bucky Dent Gym, in Hialeah.
